Approximately 1,000 children from the New Orleans area participated in Jr. NBA All-star workshop held in the Reilly Center gym on Friday. Current and former NBA players were on hand to lend a hand teaching skills and interacting with the kids.

Philadelphia 76ers center Joel Embiid squares off against one of the workshop participants during the morning session in the Reily Center.

Tulane Students walk the Reily Center track hoping to catch a glimpse of, and an autograph from their favorite NBA players.

Kristaps Porzingis, power forward for the New York Knicks, races two Jr. NBA workshop attendees in a shuttle drill in the Reily Center gym.
