

The more things change

June 29, 2017 2:30 PM Photo from Tulane University Archives
newwave@tulane.edu

Gibson Hall and the moss-draped live oaks in Audubon Park from this 1898 photo remain anchors of the uptown New Orleans landscape even as the neighborhood around it has evolved over the past 120 years. In the background a four-year-old Richardson Hall stands in a field that would become the academic quad.