

Fluvial focus

August 28, 2017 2:30 PM Photo by Ryan Rivet
rrivet@tulane.edu

A towboat pushes a barge past the River and Coastal Center on the Mississippi River, which is part of the ByWater Institute. The ByWater Institute, founded in 2016, is a cross-disciplinary center for applied research and outreach on river and coastal issues. With an emphasis on achieving a sustainable balance between natural and human systems, the ByWater Institute strives to enhance engaged scholarship on energy, the environment and resilience.