

Musicians record song for cancer awareness

April 06, 2016 4:00 PM Carolyn Scofield

cscofiel@tulane.edu

Some of New Orleans' top musicians, including Irma Thomas, Charmaine Neville, Al "Carnival Time" Johnson, Benny Grunch and Vince Vance, volunteered their time and talent to record "You're Not Alone," a song inspired by longtime local music club owner Jimmy Anselmo's fight with prostate cancer. Anselmo is now a survivor and wanted to raise awareness of prostate cancer and honor those fighting the disease at the Tulane Cancer Center.

Some of New Orleans' top musicians, including Irma Thomas, Charmaine Neville, Al "Carnival Time" Johnson, Benny Grunch and Vince Vance, volunteered their time and talent to record "You're Not Alone," a song inspired by longtime local music club owner Jimmy Anselmo's fight with prostate cancer. Anselmo is now a survivor and wanted to raise awareness of prostate cancer and honor those fighting the disease at the Tulane Cancer Center.