

Six ways to celebrate the holiday season

December 2017

3

Snow Day at Tulane

Starting at noon on Sunday, Dec. 3, the School of Science and Engineering's Council of Students will team up with Student Affairs to bring snow to south Louisiana. The Tulane community is invited to enjoy food and music while playing in 20 tons of snow blanketing the Berger Family Lawn (LBC Quad).

3

The Nutcracker Suite

The New Orleans Ballet Association will bring the breathtaking holiday production to the Dixon Hall stage on Sunday, Dec. 3, at 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. The one-hour performance will feature dancers of all ages. Tickets are available online.

7

Fry Fest Hanukkah Party

Celebrate your favorite Hanukkah traditions at Tulane Hillel (912 Broadway St.) on Thursday, Dec. 7, at 6:30 p.m. with fried food, dreidels, gelt poker and sufganiyot making.

8

Don't Spike the Egnog Concert

Music and Medicine, a student-run organization, invites the Tulane community to a holiday concert benefitting Bridge House Clinic. Featuring musical performances from five bands, the event will be hosted at The Howlin' Wolf (907 S. Peters St.) on Friday, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m. Tickets are available online.

12

Gotta Study S'more

If you're looking for the perfect way to satiate your sweet tooth while taking a finals study break, head over to the Berger Family Lawn (LBC Quad) on Tuesday, Dec. 12, to roast your own s'mores over a fire pit. TU Outdoor Adventures is hosting the event at 7 p.m.

14-16

Newcomb Art Department Holiday Studio Sale

At this annual shopping event, patrons can pick up unique gifts—including paintings, ceramics and hand-blown glass ornaments handcrafted by Tulane faculty members, students and alumni—for everyone on their list. Following a VIP preview night, the sale opens to the public Dec. 15-16 at the Woldenberg Art Center.