Tulane, Delgado sign transfer student agreement

February 08, 2019 3:00 PM

Mostofa Sarwar, interim provost, William Wainwright, interim chancellor, Delgado, Suri Duitch, dean of Tulane’s SoPA; Harold Gaspard, Delgado’s Allied Health dean; Eric Lane, Delgado alum & SoPA student, Robin Forman, Tulane provost. Photo by Mady Duncan

Tulane University’s School of Professional Advancement (SoPA) and Delgado Community College recently signed a transfer student agreement that creates a pathway for Delgado graduates to complete bachelor’s degrees at Tulane.

Tulane Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost Robin Forman and SoPA Dean Suri Duitch joined Delgado Interim Chancellor William Wainwright, Interim Provost Mostofa Sarwar and Dean of Allied Health Harold Gaspard in signing the articulation agreement during a ceremony at “This agreement continues our long partnership with Delgado and increases the opportunity for more Louisiana residents to obtain a four-year degree,” Tulane President Mike Fitts said. “We are excited to welcome a growing number of Delgado students to campus.”

“Carefully aligned programmatic transfer agreements supportive of easing the student transfer process is a cornerstone for student success,” said Wainwright. “Transfer opportunities for Delgado Community College graduates in high demand fields of study strengthen graduation outcomes and ensure robust career opportunities for our graduates.”