

Blooming birds

August 02, 2017 3:15 PM Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

A bird-of-paradise flower grows beneath the Newcomb Gate on the uptown campus. Native to South Africa where it is commonly known as a crane flower, the plant is related to the banana family.