

Good vibrations

August 09, 2017 1:45 PM Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

"I like New York, but every square inch is a noise fest," says James Fox, a frequent visitor from New York City, as he plays his guitar in the shade of the Newcomb oak trees on the uptown campus. He adds, "This is perfect — these beautiful old trees. There is great energy here."