

Yellow fever

August 11, 2017 12:30 PM Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

Nothing signals the heat of summer like bunches of black-eyed Susans sprouting in gardens across campus. The patch pictured is in full bloom in the Louisiana Native Garden next to the Merryl and Sam Israel Jr. Environmental Sciences Building on the uptown campus.