

When matter interacts

January 09, 2018 1:45 PM Paula Burch-Celentano

pburch@tulane.edu

Using a Raman spectroscopy, a laptop in the lab of Daniel Shantz in the Department of Chemical Engineering displays a spectrum of reacted benzene. This technology allows scientists to better understand the mechanism of chemical reactions.