Juliana Canabal-Rodriguez, left, and Gabriela Diaz Almeida, right, pose for a photo after meeting each other during a welcome breakfast at City Diner in the Lavin-Bernick Center. The event introduced the students and their parents to the Tulane community and provided information on campus resources. The students are part of the Tulane Guest Semester Program which offers acceptance to the 2018 Spring semester, tuition-free, to students from Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands who are unable to continue at their home institution due to Hurricane Maria.
