

Remember together

September 11, 2018 3:45 PM Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

Several hundred American flags fly on the academic quad in commemoration of lives lost during the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks.

The display was sponsored jointly by Tulane College Democrats and Tulane College Republicans.

Carson Neeves, left, social media chair with the Tulane College Republicans, and Henry Walther, right, president of the Tulane College Democrats, install flags on the academic quad early Tuesday. Both organizations hope the demonstration sends a bipartisan message of respect and remembrance for the deceased.