

Back to business after Barry

July 15, 2019 3:30 PM Tulane Today staff
today@tulane.edu

On Monday, July 15, the Tulane University campus got back to business (and the books) after Hurricane Barry passed near New Orleans, bringing some wet weather.

Rising Tulane senior Mary Catherine Stovall prepares for a research presentation in Howard-Tilton Memorial Library. (Photo by Paula Burch-Celentano)

John Yerks, a member of the campus grounds crew, clears storm debris from the sidewalk along Freret Street. (Photo by Paula Burch-Celentano)