

2019 Tulane Homecoming

November 03, 2019 10:00 PM Tulane Today
today@tulane.edu

From the Tipping Point concert, to tailgating, to cheering the Green Wave on to victory, the Tulane community had a weekend full of fun events commemorating Homecoming 2019. Photos from the weekend are below.

Mavis Staples headlines The Tipping Point concert on Friday night at the Fillmore New Orleans. The concert was a highlight of Tulane's Homecoming weekend. (Photo by Cheryl Gerber)

A packed house at The Fillmore New Orleans for The Tipping Point concert. (Photo by Dinah Rogers)

President Mike Fitts and Satyajit Dattagupta, the Vice President of Enrollment Management in the Office of Undergraduate Admission, on stage in Dixon Hall for a Town Hall with parents, alumni, faculty and staff on the progress the university is making. (Photo by Paula Burch-Celentano)

Members of the Tulane dance team and cheerleaders raise the spirits of the Green Wave faithful during tailgating before the game.

Fans enter Tailgate Village on Berger Lawn ahead of the Green Wave vs Tulsa game. (Photo by Dinah Rogers)

The 2019 Homecoming court is introduced at halftime on the field. (Photo by Parker Waters)

Seniors Albert Howell (left) and Lauren Gaines (right) are crowned Homecoming Royalty. President Fitts (center) congratulates the new Tulane royalty. (Photo by Parker Waters)