

Tulanians show Carnival spirit in “Mardi Gras for All Y’all”

February 08, 2021 12:15 PM Tulane Today staff
today@tulane.edu

The parades may be canceled, but Tulane is helping Carnival roar on. “Mardi Gras for All Y’all” is a virtual celebration with music, parades, entertainment, cuisine and more, livestreamed Feb. 12, 13 and 14 at 8 p.m. CT on Nola.com.

Look for the Tulane University Marching Band; Walter Isaacson, the Leonard Lauder Professor of American History and Values at the School of Liberal Arts; and notable alumni including actor and businessman Bryan Batt, float builder Barry Kern and social columnist Nell Nolan.

To see the full lineup, go to MardiGrasForAll.com.

Watch the sneak preview video below.