

Tulane ranked among top schools by US News and Princeton Review

September 15, 2021 8:00 AM Keith Brannon
kbrannon@tulane.edu

Once again Tulane University was listed as one of the nation's top universities in newly released rankings from U.S. News & World Report and The Princeton Review.

U.S. News' Best Colleges 2022 edition ranked Tulane No. 42 among the nation's top National Universities list, No. 29 among national private universities and No. 34 among the list of Most Innovative Schools. The publication also ranked Tulane No. 4 among the best schools for Service Learning, and Tulane's undergraduate business program ranked 41st in the nation.

“We are thrilled to remain in the competitive U.S. News Top 50 University rankings, as well as join the new class of Top 40 Most Innovative Schools,” said Satyajit Dattagupta, senior vice president and dean of admission for enrollment management and graduate and pre-college strategy.

The U.S. News list coincides with release of the Princeton Review Best 387 Colleges: 2022 Edition, which places Tulane in the top universities that are Most Loved, Best Run, and have the Best College City, Best Quality of Life and the Happiest Students.

“Overall, these rankings just confirm what we already know about Tulane: For the right student, the journey here is unparalleled — our students are happy, engaged and enthusiastic about their experience,” Dattagupta said.