

University quality enhancement plan brings Data Hub events to campus

January 20, 2022 9:00 AM Tulane Today staff
today@tulane.edu

There's a "Hub-bub" coming to campus! It's The Data Hub.

Tulane is celebrating its Quality Enhancement Plan \(QEP\) with some on-campus events that promote The Data Hub, a center that will help students and faculty use, interpret and make decisions based on data in school and beyond.

Uptown campus

Faculty and students can go to McAlister Way between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. for giveaways and food trucks, and to talk with student representatives about the importance of data literacy.

- Friday, Jan. 28 - Po-boy Hub
- Monday, Jan. 31 - Giveaway Table
- Tuesday, Feb. 1 - Taco Hub
- Thursday, Feb. 3 - Giveaway Table
- Friday, Feb. 4 - King Cake Hub

Downtown campus

Visit the Tidewater Building (1440 Canal St.) between 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. for food truck giveaways.

- Tuesday, Feb. 1 - Taco Hub

The teaching of data literacy crosses all schools and disciplines. Click here to read more about how embracing data literacy, part of the university's accreditation process, will enhance the future of Tulane.

On social media, follow #tulanedatahub.