Carnival time is here and if you have a unique role in making all the magic happen, we want to know about it! Do you help in designing/building floats for parades? Do you help craft throws and costumes for krewes? Or do you have any other interesting contributions or responsibilities during Carnival? If so, you could potentially be featured in an upcoming issue of Tulane Today.

Email your name and the unique role you play during this spirited time of year to today@tulane.edu with "Carnival Connections submission" in the subject line.
