

Springing forward

March 17, 2022 3:30 PM Tulane Today staff today@tulane.edu

Japanese magnolias, azaleas and irises are once again blooming and sprouting fresh green leaves across campus, signaling that spring is here. The days are longer and getting warmer, and students and faculty are venturing outside more. Take a moment to admire Tulane University's 'most beautiful' campus. Photo by Rusty Costanza.

