

The evergreen tree

September 14, 2022 9:30 AM Tulane Today Staff today@tulane.edu

A ceramic face is nestled along the base of a tree inside the Newcomb Pottery Garden. The garden was dedicated in May of 2009 in memory of Judith Henkin by the Glazer family and is filled with regional flora and artwork created by students in the Newcomb Art Department. The garden honors the artistic legacy of Newcomb Pottery. (Photo by Rusty Costanza)