The Tulane uptown campus is once again lively as students begin classes for the spring 2023 semester this week.

Students walk along McAlister Way on the first day of the spring 2023 semester. Sitting at a table on the Gorson Porch of the Lavin-Bernick Center (LBC) for University Life, students catch up with each other. Free 2023 planners are given away at a Tulane Tuesday event in the LBC. Students lounge in the Rosenberg Mezzanine in the LBC in between classes.
