

Photos: Advantage, Green Wave

January 01, 2010 12:00 AM

Click to view larger photo with caption.

Freshman Coby Kramer-Golinkoff returns a shot on Saturday (Jan. 23) when the Green Wave men's tennis team defeated Centenary College at the Goldring Tennis Center on the uptown campus. (Photos by Sally Asher)

Joe Young, a freshman, concentrates on his swing. The Green Wave team is now hosting competition on the uptown campus for the first time since 2005, when the program was suspended in the wake of Hurricane Katrina.

Head men's tennis coach Mark Booras, right, talks with Tulane players during a break in play. Booras was hired in 2008 to lead the team's comeback.

Sophomore Shaye Wali speaks during a ceremony on Saturday honoring the men's tennis team's return to competition on its home court.