

Photo: Birthright Israel

January 01, 2010 12:00 AM

Tulane architecture student Michael Kahn pauses at the Western Wall in Jerusalem. He was among a group of Tulane and Loyola students who traveled to Israel on a 10-day trip with Tulane Hillel on the Birthright Israel program. They also visited the Golan Heights, the Dead Sea, Mount Masada and Tel Aviv. (Photo by Elliot Cowan)

'Birthright

Tulane architecture student Michael Kahn pauses at the Western Wall in Jerusalem. He was among a group of Tulane and Loyola students who traveled to Israel on a 10-day trip with Tulane Hillel on the Birthright Israel program. They also visited the Golan Heights, the Dead Sea, Mount Masada and Tel Aviv. (Photo by Elliot Cowan)