

Photos: No Tricks, Just Treats

January 01, 2010 12:00 AM

Click to view larger photo with caption.

For this pigtailed macaque and other residents at the Tulane National Primate Research Center in Covington, La., pumpkin is a real taste treat. (Photos by Mark Murchison)

A group of macaques digs into a pumpkin. More are coming their way, thanks to donations of Halloween pumpkins by children at three elementary schools in St. Tammany Parish. The center uses the vitamin-rich fruits to supplement the animals' diets.