

Flower power

March 06, 2013 1:00 AM Ryan Rivet
rivet@tulane.edu

The first azalea blooms are appearing on the uptown campus, including these alongside the Richardson Building. Although the plant's floral display is relatively short-lived, few can compete with the azalea's high-wattage visual punch.