

Green thumb

May 15, 2013 1:00 AM Photo by Sally Asher sally@tulane.edu

Claire Beauchamp, a rising junior, tends to the flowers in the Glazer Gardens on the Tulane University uptown campus. Beauchamp is involved in the Hope Garden Project, a Tulane community service initiative dedicated to reviving the tradition of local gardens in the Ninth Ward. Since she is staying in town over the summer, Beauchamp said she will be caring for the gardens of a number of students and organizations.