

Circle the square

January 21, 2014 1:15 AM Photo by Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

Just behind Gibson Hall sits a circular shape constructed from square cardboard boxes. "Boxel" was designed and built by students during Architecture Weekend (Jan 17-20). Also called A-week, the student-organized program included a series of workshops led by visiting architects, and provided participants with contemporary views of the future of architecture, culture and technology.