Dick Rudolph, left, wears the pants in this scene, with Robert Brown, of a performance of the drama Private Ear/Public Eye on the Tulane University uptown campus in 1967. Both Rudolph and Brown are 1968 graduates of Tulane University. Rudolph, a songwriter, screenwriter, music publisher and film producer, is the father of actress and comedian Maya Rudolph, who rose to fame as a cast member of "Saturday Night Live" and starred in films such as Bridesmaids and The Way Way Back. She will deliver the the keynote address at Tulane Commencement on May 16 in the Mercedes-Benz Superdome.
