Free orange-cranberry spritzers were on hand, compliments of The Goldring Center for Culinary Medicine, a program of the Tulane University School of Medicine.
