Who: More than 150 graduating seniors of the Tulane University School of Medicine

What: Tulane University School of Medicine's traditional Match Day Ceremony

When: Thursday, March 19, 11 a.m.

Where: Hilton Riverside Hotel, Two Poydras St., Grand Salon, first floor

More: Graduating Tulane Medical School seniors, many joined by their proud families and friends, will celebrate the city and institutions where they will complete their residency, as they take the next step on their path to becoming fully licensed physicians. The National Medical Resident Matching Program pairs graduating students at medical schools throughout the United States with academic medical institutions each year at this time.
