

EPA Administrator Lisa Jackson to Volunteer for Tulane's Day of Service

August 26, 2010 3:00 AM Alisha Johnson
Johnson.alisha@epa.gov
202-564-4373

WHAT: Tulane University's Day of Service in commemoration of the fifth anniversary of Katrina

WHO: Lisa Jackson, head of the Environmental Protection Agency and a graduate of Tulane University, will join more than 500 Tulane faculty, staff and alumni for a Day of Service to the city of New Orleans. Volunteers will work to help beautify City Park and build homes for Habitat for Humanity in the 7th ward.

WHERE: Jackson will volunteer at the Popp Fountain work site from 11 a.m to noon.

WHEN: Friday, Aug. 27, 2010