

Ahoy, it's Carnival time!

February 04, 2016 1:00 PM Photo from the Tulane University Archives
newwave@tulane.edu

Disguised as pirates, a group of children stops to pose for the camera on Mardi Gras day in 1954. Before the availability of commercially made costumes, many New Orleans families designed matching, homemade outfits for winding through the streets on the last day of Carnival season.