Dancer Kathleen Moore performs with Casa Samba, a Brazilian drum and dance troupe, during the International Food and Music Festival on Saturday (April 2) in the Lavin-Bernick Center on the Tulane University uptown campus. The annual festival features international cuisine, ethnic music and cultural entertainment from around the world.

While checking out the various food booths, Tulane University President Mike Fitts, far right, stops to chat with a group of students from India.

Nancy Lapland, left, with the Office of International Students and Scholars, serves red beans and rice to Karen Wu, center, in the Lavin-Bernick Center's Qatar Ballroom.
