

Sugar magnolia

May 24, 2016 3:15 PM Photo by Ryan Rivet
rivet@tulane.edu

A Southern magnolia blooms outside of Jones Hall on the Tulane University uptown campus. Magnolias generally bloom in May and June making the milky white flowers and the sweet smell harbingers of summer wherever the trees grow.