

Iron lace

June 02, 2016 11:00 AM Photo by Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

Dappled morning light accentuates the filigree iron work on a St. Charles Avenue home near the Tulane University uptown campus. Ornate wrought iron remains a mainstay of traditional New Orleans architecture typically seen on the mansions along St. Charles, and in neighborhoods like the Garden District and the French Quarter.