

Bust-a-move

August 26, 2016 3:15 PM Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

For many students, move-in day is the beginning of new adventures and experiences as they meet roommates and fellow students for the upcoming year.

Members of the Move Krewe load students' belongings into portable orange containers. The new container system made moving in more streamlined.

First-year student Shane Friedman and his mother, Cozy, wrestle with a unwieldy mattress pad in Sharp Hall.

Zekun "Sam" Wu, Juncheol "Tony" Kim and Janie Park, left to right, search through a pile of books and binders at the Trash to Treasure sale in McWilliams Hall.

Mattie Parham, a first-year student from California, finds solace in her minimalist dorm room as she prepares for classes on Monday (Aug. 29).