

Oddly appealing

October 07, 2016 2:15 PM Paula Burch-Celentano
pburch@tulane.edu

Chris Clark, left, with Capitol City Produce shares the beauty and functionality of the knucklehead pumpkin with Tulane students and roommates Sibylle Miller, center, and Kaylie McGivney, right, during the weekly Farmers' Market at McAlister Place and Freret Street on the uptown campus. Clark's sales pitch paid off — McGivney bought the pumpkin.